GLOBAL ARTS & CULTURE PROGRAM

J Rêve International

J Rêve International's 2017 Program

About

J Rêve International organizes a number of creativity programs, which take place throughout the year and around the world.

The international programmings provide an opportunity for larger audiences to actively participate and engage in showcases, exhibitions, lectures and discussions exploring approaches, practices, applications and implications for creativity, wellness, diplomacy, culture, academia, and civil society.

The programs have an inclusive participation policy and are prepared for individuals from all academic, cultural, and professional backgrounds.

Through creativity-based projects, events and education programs advocating STEAM education, J Rêve International presents opportunities for creativity to impact people, communities, businesses, and classrooms.

Jacqueline Cofield Founder of J Rêve International LLC, is a former educator for the New York City Department of Education, and a certified yoga instructor.

As an academician, social entrepreneur, creative thought leader and producer, Jacqueline creates meaningful experiences for artists, educators and students; who seek intercultural experiences advancing their global awareness and arts engagements.

In order to produce these programs, she collaborates globally with creative personalities, cultural and educational institutions and private enterprises. To pursue her dream of bringing people together, she founded J Rêve International LLC., a global culture and arts education social enterprise.

She completed her M.Sc. in Education from The City College, City University of New York; M.A. in Marketing Communication Management from The University of Southern California and B.F.A. in Film from New York University.

P ROGRAM

JRêve International

JRêve International proposes a collaboration to create, promote, coordinate and implement a week-long program, inspired by previous CUBA and Paris Global Educator Programs that enables participants to develop skills for global competence for the arts, mindfulness, and heightened cultural awareness.

JRêve International's Global Arts & Culture program qualifies for educators and artists as a professional development experience that equips them with global competencies necessary to bring arts, international and culturally creative perspectives to their work, interactions, and creative production. Global experience is integral to building 21st century skills, and cross-cultural immersion among the greatest resources to empower global citizens.

Global multidisciplinary educators, artists, and cultural practitioners are encouraged to participate.

Professionals and students in non-arts related fields are welcome to apply as well, provided the experience is approached as useful to their personal and professional development.

Previous programs have been conducted in Cuba, France, and Senegal. For more information, to view photos and video, please visit our website at www.jreveinternational.com.
